Happenings

Try the Untraditional

Our Summer Reading Program was an enormous success, as always, with hundreds of readers of all ages enjoying a variety of books and events. Library patrons are a special group of people, united by a love of books, community, and our wonderful, traditional library services.

But behind that traditional façade, you will now find objects that are not typically associated with libraries. Our collection of things that you can borrow before you decide whether to buy your own is growing!

Outdoor gaming - more coming in September!

If you are wondering how a Fitbit really works, borrow one from the library. Want to try a musical instrument for your kids or yourself? We have them, too. Are you an astronomy enthusiast and want to show your kids the beauty of the night sky? Borrow our brand new reflecting telescope! And here is our latest offering: Google Cardboard!

Libraries are all about learning, and learning can happen in unexpected and joyous ways. Let's keep it going!
